Preferred Site for New Greenbelt High School Jeopardized by Delay

by Elaine Skolnik

An exchange of letters between the Steering Committee of the Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt and the Prince Georges County Board of Education reveals that the property site for the Greenbelt senior high school (east of the Beltway between Greenbelt Road and the lake) is in jeopardy.

In reply to an appeal from CFPG, which urged the Board of Education to expedite the construction of the senior high, Superintendent of Schools William S. Schmidt pointed out that "unless we secure this site within the next 4 to 6 weeks, I will be compelled to transfer the money to a new location in order to avoid losing this appropriation (Federal). It has been available since last fall and we have been delayed for a long time in the acquisition of the land." Other funds would then have to be used for a site in Greenbelt.

Early this year the Board of Education instituted condemnation proceedings against the owner of the site, Consolidated Syndicates, Inc. (Charles Bresler-Ted Lerner). Originally scheduled for May 6, the case was postponed because Bresler, a delegate from Montgomery County, was in the legislature. The suit was reassigned to July 22, only to be postponed by all the attorneys because the case was in the process of being settled. Once again the suit was re-scheduled, this time to September 8, but on September 1 the court was informed that the case was passed for settlement as negotiations among the parties concerned were being finalized. The case will be returned to the active trial list if no settlement is reached. In this instance, it is possible the case might not be called before April, 1966.

When questioned as to the cause of the delay, a Board of Education spokesman indicated that the owner was seeking a settlement that might involve a compromise on the city's master plan adopted by council last March. Among the items involved would be the zoning of the Bresler-owned parcels 1 and 2 (between GHI and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway) and the acquisition of the parkland, which is primarily owned by Bresler.

The city council had a meeting scheduled with the Board of Education and the developer today.

Vietnam Debate

Robert Warne of the State Department's Vietnam Working Group will be one of six speakers this Friday evening at a Debate at the Greenbelt Community Church. The debate, scheduled to start at 8 p.m., will present varying views about the U.S. policy and will be followed by a question and answer period from the audience. Among those opposing U. S. policy in Vietnam at the debate will be Professor Eugene Boardman, an expert on China from the University of Wisconsin. The debate is being sponsored by the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Vietnam and four other local church and civic groups. The public is invited to attend and take part. The moderator will be Bruce Bowman, who is well known for his work in the PTA and other civic activities in Greenbelt.

Woman's Club News

The first fall membership meeting of the Greenbelt Woman's Club will be held on Thursday, Oct. 14, at the Community Church Social Hall at 8 p.m. Each member is urged to bring a prospective member as a guest.

Highlight of the meeting will be piano selections by Frank Akers, a graduate of Peabody Conservatory of Music and a former concert pianist with the U.S. Marine Corps.

Community Church Special Meeting

This Sunday at 6 p.m. following a pot-luck supper the members of the Greenbelt Community Church will hold a special membership meeting to consider a bold new program appropriately called BREAKTHROUGH.

The Church will look at several areas of critical need not now being met from present giving. The church will continue its ministry of worship education and pastoral care. But it proposes to go where the action is - to provide help for the victims of world famine, aid for one million refugees, new ministries in urban industrial areas, help laymen in the movement toward church union and put the church solidly behind the elimination of poverty.

Local Pianist Featured

Martin Berkofsky, concert pianist, who lives at 58-J Crescent Rd., will appear in a recital at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

His program will consist of selections by Scarlatti, Mozart, Debussy, and Liszt.

The performance is to be given at the Shriver Hall Auditorium of the University, on Sunday, October 10, at 8:30 p.m.

Admission is free and interested Greenbelters are invited to attend.

October Hearing on Three Local Zoning Petitions

Two zoning petitions within the city limits of Greenbelt will be the subject of a public hearing by the county commissioners on Friday, October 15, at 10 a.m. at the county service building in Hyattsville. In addition, one petition on Cipriano Road will be heard.

Lakeside North Corporation is petitioning for 19.4 acres to be rezoned from R-30 to R-18 apartments. Both the Area 13 plan and the city's master plan call for this area to be retained R-30. The council has recommended denial. The Lakeside North properties were originally approved by council with a covenant restricting density to 12 units per acre. The R-18 zoning would permit 21 apartment units per acre.

The other petition deals with the 2½ acres between Edmonston Road and Kenilworth Road south of the Beltway interchange. W. A. and Jane Martin, the owners, are seeking C-2 general commercial zoning. On previous occasions, the owners have indicated that this and adjoining land were being considered for a Stidham retail tire outlet. The area 13 plan recommends commercial-office for this land, and the city's master plan recommends R-30.

The petition on Cipriano road south of Glenn Dale Rd. asks for rezoning from rural-residential to C-2, an 0.8-acre parcel.

Smith, Re-elected Mayor, Leads Council in Appeal for Unity

by Al Skolnik

Re-elected Mayor Edgar L. Smith made a strong appeal for unity and support of the new council at the organizational meeting of the council on Monday, October 4. Acknowledging that there were many voters who were disappointed by the election outcome, Smith urged all voters to rally behind the council for the good of the community.

"We have learned through experience, particularly during the past two years, that if the small voice of Greenbelt is to be heard beyond our city limits, we must have the support of the entire community," Smith said.

Speaking on behalf of the entire council, Smith set out the goals of the new council for the next two years:

(1) An adequate road system to meet traffic needs. The council, Smith said, has already scheduled a meeting with the State Roads Commission.

(2) A new library for Greenbelt.

(3) Adequate schools, including a senior high school, and an expansion of elementary and junior high school facilities to meet needs.

(4) Continuation of the philosophy of a low-density residential planned community with good balance in development.

(5) Keeping the electorate fully informed on all city matters.

(6) Encouragement of maximum citizen participation through service on advisory boards.

(7) Immediate action to acquire the parkland in accordance with the mandate of the voters in the referendum. Smith said that the city manager has been instructed to commence working out the mechanics for obtaining Federal matching funds.

(8) Review of existing municipal services to assure expansion of such services as new playground areas, renovation of old playgrounds, and beautification of park areas to meet the needs of this growing community.

Smith was elected unanimously for another 2-year term as Mayor, after being put into nomination by Francis White. White extolled the mayor's previous service, quoting from last week's News Review editorial. The oath of office was administered by Circuit Court Clerk W. Waverly Webb.

Upon David Champion's nomination, White was elected unanimously Mayor pro tem.

Upon taking office, Smith observed that the city was fortunate in that for the first time in its history, it had a new council whose members have all had previous council experience. The present members, in terms of service, represent approximately 15 years on the city council.

Fire Prevention Week

By Presidential Proclamation, the week of October 3-9 is National Fire Prevention Week. The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department has staged fire drills in the three elementary schools this week and lectured to the students on the subject of fire prevention. Junior Fire Marshall badges were issued along with instructions pertaining to looking for and eliminating fire hazards.

A Fire Prevention Poster contest has been held and winners will be announced soon. The winners of the Greenbelt contest will have a chance to compete with youngsters from other parts of the County and the County winners will receive their awards at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Prince Georges County Firemen's Association at the Tuxedo-Cheverly firehouse on November 4.

A film on fire prevention has been presented by the Greenbelt firemen to the two theaters in Greenbelt and will be shown throughout Fire Prevention week.

Fire Prevention Week began around the turn of the century after the famous Mrs. O'Leary's cow knocked over a lantern and started the great and disastrous Chicago fire.

Remember, for fire or an ambulance, the thing to do is to call Union 4-1122.

Goodbye to Sam

No man could leave a sweeter memory than Sam Cornelius, who died suddenly on September 30. In his navy blue beret and Bermuda shorts, he was a familiar figure in Greenbelt, and almost a fixture at the News Review office. Sam loved to write. His pockets were always stuffed with notes he'd taken at meetings; and he went to practically every meeting in town.

He used to bring his notes to the office of the paper—"just in case." Often we were glad to get them. When he didn't bring notes, he brought letters to the Editor, written in a characteristic style that was pure Sam. They were mysterious missives, full of hints; always promoting some worthy cause, but in a manner that could be perplexing.

We argued long with Sam over his letters, because we weren't always sure we understood them. He didn't like to change them, though. Sometimes we'd win him over, but more often he'd stand pat. Then he'd either take them back, or else we'd agree to use them unchanged whenever we had the space. He never took offense. He wasn't a vain man. He might leave, shaking his head over our obtuseness—but in sorrow, not in anger. In a week or two we knew he'd be back. Sam held no grudges.

He decided the office needed a map on the wall, and one Tuesday night he brought us one. We were grateful, but on a busy night we hadn't time to match his own enthusiasm. No matter. Sam hunted under typewriters and behind files until he found a hammer and nails. Bang! Bang! And the job was done.

But the nails didn't hold in the cinder-block walls, and one day the map fell down. Sam raised his eyebrows when he found it on the floor and hammered it methodically back in place. It's still there.

Sam was a clever man, but he retained a certain childlike simplicity, even after his hair had turned grey. He was an old-fashioned liberal, an idealist to the core. No consideration of expediency ever budged him from his principles. If your views were different from his, he'd argue you blue in the face; and at the end of it you liked the man—you couldn't help it.

To think I'll never look up and see Sam coming through the door! Smiling, his chin a little stubbly, his eyes benevolent behind his glasses, with a sheaf of paper in his hand.

If we ever meet again, I imagine Sam will be wearing a navy blue beret instead of a halo (a man's an individual, after all, even when he's a shade), and hurrying to present the Angel Gabriel with a letter of suggestions—respectfully couched, allusive, but very firm.

Samuel Cornelius

Samuel Cornelius, 67, died September 30 at his home, 14-V-1 Ridge, after a heart attack. Cornelius, a retired insurance agent, had been with Nationwide Insurance Company in New York for 10 years.

After moving to Greenbelt five years ago, he took an active interest in local and state Democratic politics. Cornelius was elected a Prince Georges delegate to the Maryland Democratic Convention during the 1964 campaign and later worked on behalf of Senator Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md.

During the past years, Cornelius served on the supervisory committee of the Greenbelt Consumer Services and was active on the auditing, member relations and land committees of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. He was one of the founders of the Prince Georges County Democratic Forum.

A graduate of Syracuse University, he also attended graduate school at Columbia University. During the 1920s he taught in the Atlantic City school system and also was a traffic officer with the telephone company, where he worked on the problems of automatic dialing. During the New Deal period Cornelius was employed in New York State with the National Youth Administration.

He leaves his wife, Miriam, of the home address; a son, John, of 3109 Cheverly Avenue, Cheverly; five grandchildren; and a brother, Raymond, of Pennsylvania.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy be in the form of contributions to CARE.

Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the residents of 45 Ridge Road for their generous contributions toward the Leukemia Society Drive held last week.

A Good Man

To the Editor:

On Thursday morning, September 30, our friend and neighbor Sam Cornelius died. Many Greenbelters knew Sam Cornelius through his incisive letters to the News Review. Others of us were much more fortunate, we knew Sam Cornelius personally and had the privilege of working with him in a variety of endeavors.

Sam had the capacity to "heat up" when he felt we were getting lukewarm about a project. He also had the ability to "cool us down" when he felt we were getting a little too hot to be objective or useful in supporting a goal we sought to achieve. More than this, Sam Cornelius had the rare quality of seeing to the heart of a matter and exposing it for examination.

But beyond this, Sam Cornelius was a good friend, and I do not know of any words that can say more than that about the quality of a man. Those of us who knew him will miss him beyond measure.

The death of Sam Cornelius is more than a personal loss to his family and friends. His death is a loss to the community which the passing of time will make more and more evident.

Sam Cornelius was an independent spirit. A truly independent spirit. He represented a stream in our American Heritage that has become more and more rare. It was his very independence of spirit which made Sam so valuable to Greenbelt. Sam served as the "gadfly" of our community. He prodded not only the conscience of the individual, he prodded the conscience of the community as well.

As elsewhere, so here in Greenbelt, the role of the gadfly in the community is not much appreciated.

It can be a lonely role and Sam had his moments of loneliness. But he was too insistent about not shutting out any man from his circle and even those who resented his role the most (because they knew he was right) found themselves within his circle.

We are indeed fortunate that Sam Cornelius and his wife Miriam chose to live in our City of Greenbelt and our hearts go out to Miriam at this time especially. We have all gained by Sam's willingness to make himself such a vital button...

Who's got the buttons?

We have! On the newest phones around—Touch-Tone® telephones!

Ten easy push buttons replace the dial. You can tap out a telephone number as fast as your finger can fly.

A one-time charge of $5 pays for replacing every phone in your house with new Touch-Tone telephones. There's no extra charge for color.

The low monthly billing for Touch-Tone service—no matter how many extensions you now have—is only $1.50 more than regular individual line service ($2 per business line).

Call or visit your Telephone Business Office to find out when Touch-Tone service will be available in your area. The phones are on display. Try them and see how easy it is to make a call the Touch-Tone way.
